"I'm sorry, Mr. Naheed, we have no openings for you.
 All of those jobs were outsourced to your home country."

Wednesday May 19th 12:30 in the Game Room

"Steps to Interview Success" will be presented by Donna Lamb (Ohio State Lima Career Services) and Krista Richardson (Rhodes State College Career Services). Getting the interview is the first step to getting your dream job. Convincing the employer that you are the best person for the job can be daunting but is critical to a successful job search. Learn how to prepare for the interview and how best to answer those tough questions like, "So tell me about yourself."

Hog Creek Review, OSU-Lima's annual online literary journal, will accept student submissions until June 11th for the new issue. Students who have written strong academic essays in 2009-2010 are encouraged to submit their efforts (we accept entries from across the curriculum), and those students who also have any original works in the areas of fiction, creative nonfiction, poetry, and photography are encouraged as well.

The following awards are available for works accepted for publication:
The Writing Center Awards for the Academic Essay

The essay must have been completed for a class at OSU-Lima.

1st Place $100 Gift Certificate

2nd Place $50 Gift Certificate

The Arbuckle Creative Writing Awards

Prose (Fiction and Creative Nonfiction): 1st Place $100, 2nd Place $50

There are also two art awards (1st Place $100 gift certificate, 2nd Place $50 gift certificate). Brad Olson will select works from his photography classes this past year and also review open submissions in photography; other art awards will be selected from work completed in Ed Valentine's classes during the past academic year.
